1. How the Super SA Income Stream works

Income Streams are generally designed for people who:

- have reached age 60, and
- are either retired, or are approaching retirement, and
- want to keep their money invested in a tax-effective environment and draw a regular income rather than withdrawing money in a lump sum.

You may also be eligible to start an income stream if you are permanently disabled or are the spouse recipient of a superannuation death benefit.

With a Super SA Income Stream you can continue to receive income stream payments until your investment and investment earnings run out.

Setting up your Income Stream

As a current Super SA member or investor (active or preserved), or spouse of a Super SA member, you can invest in the Super SA Income Stream. You may also be eligible to invest if you have received an entitlement from any other super scheme established by the South Australian Government for its employees in the last 24 months. If you are unsure whether you are eligible or not, please contact Super SA to confirm to avoid delays in processing your request.

Each year you can choose the level of your annual income within Australian Government set limits. You can also choose whether you want to receive payments fortnightly, monthly, quarterly, half yearly or annually.

Minimum income limits

The annual minimum income limit is determined by multiplying your Super SA Income Stream account balance by the minimum income rate that applies for your age on the date your income stream commences and each 1 July in subsequent years.

The minimum income limits are shown in the following table:

Age	Minimum income rate
Under 65	4%
65-74	5%
75-79	6%
80-84	7%
85-89	9%
90-94	11%
95 or more	14%

Maximum income limits

If you're under age 65 and commenced an income stream as part of a Transition to Retirement (TTR) arrangement, in addition to the minimum income amount there's a maximum Australian Government limit of 10% of your account balance that you can take each year. If you're permanently retired, there is no maximum limit on your annual income.

You should also know that:

- You must draw at least the minimum income stream payment each financial year.
- If you open your Super SA Income Stream part way through the financial year, a proportion of the minimum limit will apply.
- Each year at 1 July, the minimum and maximum limits will be re-calculated using your account balance at the time and you'll be notified of these limits in writing.
- If you open up an account in June, you are not required to receive an income stream payment until the next financial year.

Lump Sum withdrawals

Subject to preservation rules and any tax implications, the Super SA Income Stream gives you the freedom to withdraw your money and there are no fees charged for doing so.

You can make partial withdrawals of at least $1,000 to your nominated bank account once you have met a condition of release. If you have a non-commutable income stream (such as a TTR arrangement), you can only receive your entitlement in the form of a regular income payment and you are unable to make lump sum withdrawals unless your account holds unrestricted non-preserved money, or you met compassionate or financial hardship grounds. Otherwise, your entitlement can only be paid as a cash lump sum, once you meet one of the conditions of release.

Purchasing an income stream as part of a TTR arrangement

If you've reached age 60, you can start accessing your super via an income stream (such as the Super SA Income Stream) as you Transition To Retirement (TTR).

1. How the Super SA Income Stream works (continued)

If you purchase a Super SA Income Stream as part of a TTR arrangement, the ability to withdraw lump sum amounts is limited to any unrestricted non-preserved money (i.e. money that has already met a condition of release and can be paid at any time).

! PROOF OF IDENTITY

You will be required to provide proof of identity to verify who you are when setting up and withdrawing money from your Super SA Income Stream account. A full list of the identification documents that can be accepted can be found at supersa.sa.gov.au.

Transfer balance cap

The transfer balance cap is a lifetime limit on the total amount of superannuation that can be transferred into retirement phase income streams, including most retirement pensions and annuities. The general transfer balance cap is currently set at $2 million.

All retirement phase income streams (including death benefit income streams) you receive will count towards your transfer balance cap. This includes any lifetime pensions payable from Super SA.

Amounts held in Transition to Retirement Income Streams do not count towards the transfer balance cap (until you reach age 65 or permanently retire).

If you commenced retirement pensions before 1 July 2025, you will have a personal transfer balance cap of between $1.6 and $2 million, which can be viewed on ATO online services via myGov.

If the total of all your retirement phase accounts (such as in Super SA Income Stream) is in excess of the transfer balance cap, you may have to remove the excess from the retirement income phase. You can choose to be paid the excess, or roll over to an accumulation phase account, such as the Super SA Flexible Rollover Product.

If you have more than $1.6 million in retirement phase accounts, you should seek financial advice.

For further information please call the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) Super Helpline on 13 10 20 or visit www.ato.gov.au.

Investment fees

Investment fees vary depending on your choice of investment options.

The investment fee includes fund manager fees and applicable performance fees, transaction and operational costs, such as asset consulting fees, custodian fees, investment-related legal advisory fees, and an administration fee that covers expenses incurred by Funds SA in managing the funds.

The table below includes investment fees and transaction costs.

Transaction costs include brokerage, stamp duty, transaction settlement costs, clearing costs, buy and sell spreads and other acquisition and disposal costs.

These fees and costs are deducted from the assets of the investment option and are reflected in the unit price.

For more information on investment options see the Investment Guide at supersa.sa.gov.au.

For other changes which require notice, notice will generally occur within three months of the change or event occurring.

3. How Super SA Income Stream is taxed

How your income stream is taxed depends on whether you are under or over age 60:

- If you are age 60 or over all the payments you receive from the Super SA Income Stream are tax free.
- If you are under age 60 (i.e. if you're receiving a death benefit income stream or disability super benefit) then part of the income stream payment you receive may be tax free and the remainder may receive a tax offset of 15%⁵.

NOTE

It is important to note that any taxable amount you receive from an income stream will be added to your overall assessable income for that financial year. This may result in you owing tax because you did not pay enough tax on your overall income.

Your super may be taxed at up to four stages:

1. Tax on contributions (taxable components)
2. Tax on investment earnings (if your benefit is through a TTR arrangement)
3. Tax on income stream payments (if you are under age 60)
4. Tax on lump sum withdrawals (if you are under age 60).

Names of common tax components of your entitlement

Names of tax components	Example
Tax free component	After-tax contributions
Taxable (taxed) component	Employer contributions, salary sacrifice contributions, contributions you claimed a tax deduction for and investment earnings

Tax on transfers

There is no tax payable on funds transferred from a taxed fund, however if your funds are transferred from one of the SA Government's super schemes operating in the untaxed environment (such as Triple S scheme) to the Super SA Income Stream, 15% tax will be deducted from the Taxable (untaxed) component of your superannuation lump sum, as shown in the table below.

Tax	For rollovers from untaxed schemes (e.g. Triple S) to the Super SA Income Stream
Tax free (no tax payable)	Tax free component
15%	Taxable (untaxed) component of your super lump sum, under $1,865,000 ⁶
Top marginal rate plus Medicare levy	Taxable (untaxed) component of your super lump sum, above $1,865,000 ⁶

If you have super invested in the Triple S, Lump Sum or Pension schemes, a separate cap of $1,865,000 (for the 2025-26 financial year) applies for each scheme. You should therefore seek professional financial advice should you wish to consolidate super held in untaxed schemes before rolling into a taxed superannuation fund.

Tax on investment earnings

Investment income from assets supporting a retirement income stream are tax free (i.e. if you are at least 65 years old, permanently retired or are in receipt of a death benefit income stream). Investment income from assets in Transition to Retirement (TTR) income streams will be taxed at up to 15%.

This is deducted from the investment returns of all Income Stream funds under management as a whole before unit prices are applied to your individual account balance.

⁵ This may be different for death benefit income streams. Refer to the Income Stream PDS for more detail.

⁶ Taxable (untaxed) amounts over $1,865,000 will be taxed at the top marginal rate plus Medicare levy for the 2025-26 financial year.

3. How Super SA Income Stream is taxed (continued)

Income tax

If you are under age 60, your regular income stream payments are subject to income tax. The tax rate will depend on your total assessable income for the year, as well as other personal circumstances. A tax free portion and a tax offset may reduce your income tax.

Tax at a specific rate may be deducted from your payments before they go into your bank account.

Tax free portion

As mentioned at the beginning of this section, if you are under age 60, a portion of your income stream payments may be tax free. This amount is determined when you commence an income stream.

The percentage of tax free amounts rolled into the Super SA Income Stream will be used to determine the portion of income and any lump sum withdrawals that will be tax free.

Tax on lump sum withdrawals

If you age 60 or over, or withdrawing a lump sum from a death benefit income stream, your payment will be tax free.

If you are under 60 any lump sum withdrawal you make will include a tax free and taxable component. You cannot select which components you withdraw as a lump sum. Tax components are calculated in the same proportions as the components that make up your total account balance. Refer to the table opposite for the applicable tax rates for the Taxable (taxed) component.

Proportioning of entitlements

You cannot select which components you withdraw as a lump sum. Tax components will be calculated in the same proportion as the components that make up your total account balance regardless of age. You are not able to select only your tax free component and you may need to pay tax on your lump sum withdrawal.

The cap is a lifetime limit and is subject to indexation.

Tax treatment of lump sum withdrawals ⁷
Your age	Tax on taxable (taxed) component
Under age 60	20% maximum rate (no limit)
Age 60 or over	Tax free

Please note that the 2% Medicare levy is also payable where tax is payable.

Tax on death benefit income streams

If the deceased or spouse recipient of a death benefit income stream is age 60 years or over, the surviving spouse will receive income payments tax free. If the deceased and spouse recipient were both under the age of 60, the taxable (taxed) component of an income stream payment is taxed at marginal tax rates less a 15% tax offset. The tax free component of an income stream payment is tax free.

A lump sum payment from the income stream is tax free when paid directly to a beneficiary who is a dependent for tax purposes.

Supplying your tax file number

It is important that you provide Super SA with your tax file number (TFN). If we do not have your TFN, tax will be deducted from your payments and lump sum withdrawals at the highest marginal rate plus the 2% Medicare levy.

How can I provide my TFN?

Online: Log into the online member portal at supersa.sa.gov.au.

Post: Download and complete the Tax file number notification form and send it to Super SA.

Further information

Further information is also in the Super SA Income Stream PDS.

The following website will also be of assistance if read in conjunction with the information presented in the Tax Offsets section at www.ato.gov.au.

⁷ Assumes TFN provided. When you lodge your next tax return, if your marginal tax rate is lower, you may be eligible for reduced tax. Please visit www.ato.gov.au for more information.

4. Beneficiaries

Splitting super following the breakdown of relationships

The Family Law Act 1975 (Cth) enables divorced or permanently separated married couples and de facto couples to split and share their accrued superannuation interests in the same way as other property in a relationship. It is up to the parties to agree how they will share their super assets or the Family Court can decide. Where parties enter into a splitting agreement which includes sharing of superannuation assets, each party will need to know the value of the accrued super. Super SA will charge a service fee for preparing the information and splitting the entitlement.

What happens to your money if you die?

All the money left in your Income Stream account if you die is referred to as a “Death Benefit”.

A lot of people think that their Death Benefit automatically forms part of their estate and is distributed according to their Will (or under the laws of intestacy). That is not the case for a Super SA Income Stream Death Benefit, which can be paid out to either:

1. Your Reversionary Beneficiary. This is either your spouse or putative spouse, who, if you nominate them as your Reversionary Beneficiary, they will continue to receive your income stream payment (out of your existing account) if you die. Your Reversionary Beneficiary must be nominated at the time you apply for an Income Stream Account. A Reversionary Beneficiary will receive your Death Benefit even if you subsequently nominate a Legal Personal Representative. If you change your mind about leaving the Death Benefit to your Reversionary Beneficiary, you would need to contact Super SA to discuss your options. Your Reversionary Beneficiary can choose to receive fortnightly, monthly, quarterly or annual payments (referred to as a ‘reversionary pension’), or withdraw the remaining balance as a lump sum. If they are no longer your spouse or putative spouse at the time of your death, then the Death Benefit will be paid to your estate.
2. Your spouse or putative spouse. Your spouse is the person to whom you are legally married. Your putative spouse is a person who, on a certain date:
 - Was cohabiting with you as your de facto spouse and:
 - you have been so cohabiting continuously for the preceding period of 3 years; or
 - in the preceding 4 years cohabited for periods aggregating not less than 3 years; or
 - a child, of whom both you and the person are the parents, has been born (whether or not the child is still living); or
 - Was in a registered relationship with you under the Relationships Register Act 2016.

3. Your Legal Personal Representative (LPR). This is a person you appointed as an executor or administrator of your estate. If you nominate an LPR, your Death Benefit will be paid to your estate and will be distributed according to your Will as long as there is no Reversionary Beneficiary. If there is a Reversionary Beneficiary, your Death Benefit will always be paid to that person.
4. Your estate. In this instance it will fall into your estate and will be distributed in accordance with your Will or the laws of intestacy (if you do not have a valid Will).

Death Benefits paid to your spouse (including as your Reversionary Beneficiary) are generally tax free. Death Benefits distributed according to your Will to a “dependent”, as defined in tax law, will be tax free, but if distributed to a “non-dependent”, as defined by tax law, Death Benefits will be taxed.

Legal Personal Representative – things you need to know

Who is a Legal Personal Representative (LPR)?

Your LPR or one of the executors or administrators of your Will.

What makes a valid and effective nomination?

Please use the Super SA “Binding Death Benefit Nomination Form Legal Personal Representative (Estate)” (the Form) available on the Super SA website. For your nomination to be valid, it must be:

- signed by yourself, in the presence of two witnesses over the age of 18, who are not your LPR nor a Super SA staff member.
- accompanied by the appropriate proof of identity documentation. Please refer to the Proof of Identity information sheet attached to the nomination form for further information.

The nomination is not effective until Super SA receives the completed Form and appropriate Proof of Identity documents. (In other words, if you die before then, the nomination will not be effective.).

4. Beneficiaries (continued)

Extending, updating or revoking a nomination

A valid nomination is effective for 3 years from the date it was signed.

You can extend an existing nomination before it expires by completing a new form. In that instance, you are not required to have the form witnessed or provide proof of identity documents. If you miss the expiration date, you will need to complete the original process again, as it is taken to be a new nomination.

You can revoke your nomination at any time prior to the three year expiry date by completing the form and ticking the revocation box. Requests to revoke an existing nomination will take effect on the date Super SA receives them.

Payment under a nomination

If your nomination expires or is invalid at the time of your death, Super SA will pay your Death Benefit to your spouse or putative spouse and if you have no spouse or putative spouse, to your estate.

If there was a valid nomination in place at the date of death but it expires before the Death Benefit is paid, payment will still be made to your LPR.

What happens if my circumstances change?

Keeping your LPR nomination and Will updated at all times is important. If your circumstances change, for example in the event of marriage, your previous Will may become invalid. In the event of divorce, you may want to change the beneficiaries.

Will I be charged a fee for making a nomination?

Currently, there is no cost for making or renewing a nomination.

How can I check my nomination?

You will receive notification from Super SA confirming your LPR nomination, including the expiry date. However, if you wish to check your nomination you can contact Super SA.

Power of Attorney

A new nomination or a request to revoke an existing nomination cannot be made by a person acting as a member's Power of Attorney. However, a Power of Attorney acting on behalf of the member/investor can confirm a current nomination.

What if I have more than one Super SA Account?

It is important that you tell us each account that you would like to apply your nomination. When completing the nomination form you will be asked to list each account number that applies.

Spouse members

Spouse members can also nominate an LPR by completing the Binding Death Benefit Nomination Legal Personal Representative (Estate) form.

Financial advice

Making a binding death benefit nomination is an important decision. You may wish to seek financial and/or legal advice.

5. Extra information

Lost members

Super SA reports details of lost members to the ATO who will then endeavour to locate those members. Lost members automatically become part of the ATO lost members register.

A member is deemed lost if Super SA has received two pieces of returned mail and does not have a follow up address for that member.

Check if you have any lost super by calling the ATO on 13 28 65 or visiting www.my.gov.au.

Centrelink income test & asset test

Centrelink and the Department of Veterans' Affairs (DVA) apply an income and assets test to work out if you're eligible to receive any benefits or allowances from the government. You should consult them to discuss your circumstances and how an Income Stream may impact any benefits you and/or your partner may be entitled to.

When you commence a Super SA Income Stream we will issue you with a Centrelink/DVA schedule which you should give to them. Periodically they may request schedules which we can give to you or you can generate yourself from the member portal.

Income test

Centrelink and the Department of Veterans' Affairs generally apply a deeming rate to your account balance to determine the amount that counts towards the income test.

Income streams that commenced prior to 1 January 2015 may be assessed under different rules.

Asset test

If you or your spouse or partner are receiving a Centrelink or Department of Veterans' Affairs (DVA) entitlement, your Super SA Income Stream account balance is an assessable asset under the asset test.
