Overview

Most Triple S members are automatically provided with default Death and TPD Insurance when they join Triple S.

Eligible members are covered until they reach age 70 if they become permanently disabled, terminally ill or die.

Not all members are eligible and some restrictions apply. More information on page 3.

Eligible members automatically receive three units of Standard Death and TPD Insurance. The value of a unit of Standard Insurance is linked to your age, and gradually decreases after the age of 34. More information on pages 2 - 4.

Fixed Benefit Insurance is an alternative type of cover which can provide you with a fixed level of cover until you reach age 70. More information on pages 2 and 5.

Death Only Insurance is only available to Triple S Spouse members. More information on pages 2, 6 - 7.

Standard Death and TPD Insurance Cover

Most members automatically receive three units of Standard Death and TPD Insurance¹. The value of each unit is determined by your age. These default units of Standard Insurance cover cost $0.75 each per week (ie a total of $2.25 per week). More details on pages 3-4.

Fixed Benefit Death and TPD Insurance

Fixed Benefit Insurance has a value of $10,000 per unit which does not reduce as you age. It provides you with a fixed level of cover until you reach age 70.

Once you fix your level of cover it remains the same until you advise us that you want to change it or you reach age 70 when Death and TPD Insurance ceases for all members. The premium for Fixed Benefit Insurance will generally increase each year in line with your birthday. More details on page 5.

Changing the level of your Death and TPD Insurance cover

Most members can choose to increase, decrease or cancel their Death and TPD Insurance¹.

If you want to increase your cover you can apply to purchase additional units of Standard or Fixed Benefit Death and TPD Insurance and will be required to provide health and medical information (limitations may apply on the additional units).

You can choose to transfer your existing level of Standard cover to Fixed Benefit at a value that is as close to but does not exceed your current level of Standard cover, without having to provide medical information. In this case, any existing limitations will continue to apply but new limitations will not be applied. However, if you want an additional level of cover, you will be asked to provide health and medical information as part of your application.

You can only hold one type of Death and TPD insurance in Triple S at any time, ie Standard OR Fixed Benefit OR Fixed (closed).

Death Only Insurance

Death Only Insurance is only available to Triple S Spouse members². Spouse members need to apply for Death Only Insurance cover.

The value of each Standard Death Only unit is based on your age and costs $0.50 per unit per week.

Death Only Insurance is also available as Fixed Benefit Insurance where each unit has a fixed value of $10,000 that doesn't reduce with age. The cost of units is based on your current age. Details on pages 6-7.

When you are not covered

Death and TPD Insurance cover ceases when you terminate employment with the SA public sector.

Members ineligible for any insurance cover

Triple S members not eligible for insurance (including additional insurance) include:

- Members aged 70 and over
- Non-active or preserved Triple S members
- SA public sector employees who are employed for a specified period and are remunerated by a fee, allowance or commission (eg members of boards and committees, sessional members).
- Members who have previously received a terminal illness insurance benefit from another state government super scheme.

If a member previously received invalidity insurance benefits (or benefits of a similar kind) from Triple S or another SA Government super scheme and they recommence SA Government employment, they are entitled to Death Only Insurance cover only. However, the Death Only Insurance is not payable if the cause of death is connected to the condition for which the previous invalidity benefit was paid. Members in this category similarly cannot apply for additional Death Insurance and are also ineligible for IP Insurance cover.

Members ineligible for default cover who can apply for cover

Lump Sum, Pension and Police Pension Scheme members who are also members of Triple S, do not automatically receive units of Standard Insurance cover. However, these members can apply for insurance through Triple S in addition to the insurance provided through their current super scheme if they are making salary sacrifice contributions to Triple S.

Triple S Spouse members are not automatically provided with insurance cover on joining but can apply for Death Only Insurance. See information on Death Only Insurance on pages 6-7.

Spouse members are only eligible for Death Only cover. For spouse members, any Death Only cover ceases when the Triple S member ceases to be a member (ie withdraws their Triple S balance) or when the spouse member is no longer the spouse of the Triple S member (ie has divorced or permanently separated from the Triple S member).

However, you are not eligible to claim a Triple S Death and TPD Insurance entitlement for a medical condition that existed at the time you joined Triple S until you have been working in the SA public sector for six months. Once you have completed six months of active work, you will be covered for all medical conditions on the default units of cover you received on joining, including pre-existing medical conditions. Conditions may apply to any additional units.

Death insurance is not payable where a claim arises from suicide within the first 12 months after the commencement or increase in the level of cover.

Former contributors of the Lump Sum Scheme and Pension Scheme who became Triple S members without ceasing employment, will not be covered for any medical condition on their Total and Permanent Disablement Insurance, including terminal illness, for 24 months from the date their Triple S membership commenced.

Insurance Restrictions

For details of some of the situations where members are not eligible for insurance cover or where cover ceases. See the Triple S Insurance Restrictions fact sheet.

The value of a unit of Standard Insurance is linked to your age. Once you reach age 35, the value of a Standard unit gradually decreases each year. For example, if you are aged 34, one unit is worth $75,000, but at age 45, one Standard unit is worth $42,000.

Most Triple S members receive three units by default. For a 25 year old the value of this cover is $225,000 (ie 3 x $75,000). However, for a 60 year old this is $27,000 (ie 3 x $9,000).

Your premiums, however, stay the same as the cover reduces.

Cost of Standard Death and TPD Insurance

Standard Death and TPD weekly premium
First 3 units	$0.75 per week each unit
4th and subsequent units	$1 per week each unit

Example	Cost
Sally has 3 units of cover	3 units of Standard Death and TPD Insurance costs Sally $2.25 per week (ie 3 x $0.75)
Mark has 4 units of cover	4 units of Standard Death and TPD Insurance costs Mark $3.25 per week (ie 3 x $0.75 + 1 x $1.00)
Aliya has 10 units of cover	10 units of Standard Death and TPD Insurance costs Aliya $9.25 per week (ie 3 x $0.75 + 7 x $1.00)

SA AMBULANCE & POLICE

Triple S Police and SA Ambulance members automatically receive six default units of Standard Death and TPD Insurance which cost $0.75 per unit per week (ie 6 units x $0.75 = $4.50 per week). Any additional units cost $1 per unit per week.

Fixed Insurance (closed to new applications since November 2014)

Members are no longer able to apply for units of Fixed (closed) Insurance cover. However, members who had Fixed Insurance cover as at 13 November 2014 retained their level of cover.

Increasing your Fixed (closed) cover

If you want to increase your level of cover you will need to cancel your Fixed (closed) Insurance and either transfer it to Standard or Fixed Benefit Insurance cover. You cannot have more than one type of Death and TPD Insurance.

Unlike Fixed (closed) Insurance cover, where the cost and the value are fixed, the value of Standard Insurance cover decreases over time, and the premiums of Fixed Benefit Insurance increase over time.

Transferring your Fixed (closed) cover

You can transfer your existing level of Fixed (closed) cover to Standard or Fixed Benefit Insurance at a value that is as close to, but does not exceed, your current level of cover without having to provide medical information. In this situation any existing limitations will continue to apply but new limitations will not be applied.

However, if you want to increase your Standard or Fixed Benefit insurance cover above this amount, you will need to complete the form (see page 10 for which form you need to use) and provide medical information. Limitations may apply to the additional units.

If you transfer your insurance cover from Fixed (closed) to Standard or Fixed Benefit Insurance, you will not be able to transfer back to Fixed (closed) in the future.

Decreasing or cancelling your Fixed (closed) cover

Members with Fixed (closed) Insurance can decrease or cancel their level of cover.

At age 65

All Fixed (closed) Insurance ceases for all members at age 65. At this time eligible members will automatically receive default Standard Death and TPD Insurance (usually three units with a total value of $15,000) to age 70. Alternatively, Fixed (closed) Insurance cover can be transferred to either Standard or Fixed Benefit Insurance prior to turning age 65. Conditions apply. The transferred cover will continue to age 70.

If you want a higher level of Standard or Fixed Benefit insurance cover, you will need to apply. See the Transferring your Fixed (closed) cover section on the left of this page for conditions that apply when you transfer cover.

- The cost depends on your age when you bought the units, and
- The cost of the units does not change from year to year.

Leaving the public sector?

If, within 60 days of ceasing public sector employment [or within 60 days of becoming eligible for a benefit if you are a spouse member (refer to the Spouse Member and Spouse Accounts fact sheet)], you invest in the Flexible Rollover Product and make the required insurance election, you can continue your Death and TPD Insurance on the same terms, conditions and restrictions. Other conditions apply.

Staying with Super SA also means you can access our range of Post Retirement Products when you retire.

For more information, see the Insurance and Leaving the Public Sector fact sheet available from the Super SA website.

Payment of premiums

Insurance premiums are deducted from your super balance. Super SA will advise you of any changes to premiums.

Casual employees and insurance

Casual employees working less than nine hours per week, or for periods that average less than nine hours per week over a three month period cannot apply for additional units of cover.

Changing your cover

Members can vary the type and level of Death and TPD Insurance cover at any time. Use the Insurance Calculator on the Super SA website to find out how much insurance you need and the options available.

Applying for cover: other information

- If you apply to change your insurance cover at any time, generally your insurance cover will be effective from the date Super SA receives your fully completed application.

Super SA can, however, defer applications for insurance. If this occurs, then the insurance cover will not commence until the cover is accepted. Super SA may also decline the insurance application, which means that the insurance cover was never effective.

- When applying for extra insurance, Super SA may apply limitations to your Death and TPD Insurance or Death Only Insurance due to any medical conditions¹ or prescribed activities. When you complete the insurance form, you will be asked questions about your health and medical history and you will need to provide details of any medical conditions.

If you do not disclose a previous or existing medical condition and a claim is later made for death or TPD, the insurance entitlement may not be payable.

¹ Or SA Ambulance staff who transferred into Triple S from the SA Ambulance Service Scheme under the age of 60.

² A 'medical condition' is any illness, disease, injury, disability, disorder, syndrome, infection, behaviour and atypical variations of structure and function that impact on or affect the physical and/or mental condition and impairs normal function.

Does Super SA use 'premium loadings'?

Unlike many insurance providers, Super SA does not load or increase premiums for members who have certain medical conditions, undertake certain activities or have different types of jobs. Instead the legislation allows the Super SA Board to place limitations on the insurance cover.

Cancelling or ceasing cover

If you wish to cancel your Death and TPD Insurance the cancellation will be effective the date it is received by Super SA. If you cancel your cover you can apply for insurance again, however you will be required to provide health and medical information and limitations may be applied to your cover.

Conditions under which Death and TPD insurance cover will cease include:

- when your SA public sector employment ends
- for casual employees who work nine or more hours per week, 12 months after the date last worked
- when you reach age 70.

Limitations

When applying for cover the Board may place limitations on the Death or TPD Insurance cover it offers you if you have a medical condition² or if you engage in a prescribed activity that increases your risk of incapacity for work.

If you lodge a claim for Death or TPD, you will not be covered if your incapacity for work or death is caused in any way by the medical condition that is the subject of the limitation.

See the box (right) for an example of limitations.

When you lodge a claim, Super SA will ascertain if there is a connection between your pre-existing condition or prescribed activity (ie the reason your limitation was applied) and the claimed condition. If there is a proven connection between the limitation and the claimed condition, your claim will be denied.

It is important to remember that even if you have a limitation for one or more medical conditions, you are still covered for other events that are not related to the limitation.

If you have a limitation placed on your Death and TPD insurance and your circumstances change, you can apply to have the limitation removed. You will need to complete a Statutory Declaration and/or provide medical evidence (this will depend on the limitation you are looking to have reviewed). Based on the updated information or medical evidence you provide, your limitation may remain, be varied or be removed.

Example:

When David began employment with the SA Public Sector in 2014 he automatically received two units of Death and TPD insurance by default. Because he received them by default, no limitations applied to these units.

In 2017, he applied for three additional units and he provided medical information, which included his history of back issues. His three additional units of insurance were granted but with a limitation for a disc bulge in his back.

On 3 September 2018, Super SA's new insurance rules came into force and his cover was converted to three default units with no limitations and two additional units with a limitation for the disc bulge.

In January 2019, he applied for five more units of insurance. His insurance was granted, but as he now disclosed his recently-diagnosed depression, these five units had a limitation for his depression and for his disc bulge.

If he later becomes TPD solely due to:

- a heart condition, he would be paid out on all ten units.
- his disc bulge, he would only be paid out on the three default units (as his remaining units have a limitation for the disc bulge).
- his depression, he would only be paid out on the five units he had before he was diagnosed with and then disclosed his depression.

Subject to eligibility criteria. This example is for illustrative purposes only.

¹ Transitional provisions apply in relation to the calculation of notional salary where a member became entitled to receive an Income Protection benefit before 3 September 2018.

² Gainful employment means employed or self-employed for gain or reward in any business, trade, profession, vocation, calling, occupation or employment and also includes any employment that you may be retrained or rehabilitated to perform based on your education, training or experience.

What if I do not disclose a medical condition on my application form?

When you lodge a claim for insurance, the claim and medical information received is reviewed. If you have additional insurance and there is medical evidence that you participated in a prescribed activity (eg smoking) or that a medical condition or symptoms existed before you were granted your insurance that relates to the condition you are claiming for, and this was not disclosed on your application, Super SA has the right to deny your insurance claim.

Failing to include relevant information when you apply for insurance cover could mean Super SA has the right to deny your insurance claim.

It is known as non-disclosure and any insurance cover can be denied where non-disclosure occurs.

How to make a claim

To make a claim for TPD Insurance, complete the Claim for Disablement Entitlements form that is part of the TPD Making a Claim Kit. To make a claim for Death Insurance, complete an Application for Payment in Relation to a Deceased Member. Both are available from the Super SA website.

The time taken to assess your claim depends on the conditions you have and the information available.

A claim can take anywhere from a few weeks to several months, particularly if we have to wait for information from medical practitioners. We will keep you informed of the progress and how you may be able to help us if there are any delays outside of Super SA's control.

You will have to pay the cost of providing any medical evidence to support your claim, such as obtaining the medical reports from your treating doctors and any supporting documentation.

Where you attend an appointment with an independent medical examiner arranged by Super SA, the medical examiner's costs will be covered by Super SA. However, if an appointment is arranged and you do not attend the appointment, you will need to pay the cost of any non-attendance fee incurred.

Eligibility criteria for claiming Total and Permanent Disablement Insurance

- If your employment terminated after 3 September 2018¹, you will be taken to be totally and permanently disabled if the Super SA Board is satisfied that, on the day on which your employment terminated:
 - a. you were suffering from ill health (whether physical or mental) that made it unlikely that you would at any future time engage in gainful employment² for which you were reasonably qualified by education, training or experience or for which you could be expected to become reasonably qualified following appropriate training or rehabilitation; and
 - b. you were receiving treatment from a medical practitioner in respect of the ill health and were following the advice of the practitioner.

Other criteria apply.
- If your employment was terminated or you resigned as a result of unsatisfactory performance due to your incapacity, you must have been incapacitated for all kinds of work at the date of termination and for at least six months since terminating employment.
- If your employment was terminated due to the expiry of a fixed term contract, your medical condition must have existed before the expiry of the contract and caused incapacity for all types of work for six months since the expiry of the contract.
- Your employment must be terminated on the grounds of total and permanent disablement before you reach age 70.

TPD benefits may not be approved if you refuse or fail to submit to reasonable medical treatment that would likely assist in your rehabilitation to work.

Timeframe to lodge a claim

If you wish to lodge a TPD claim, you must do so within two years of terminating employment.

Terminal Illness

If you have Death and TPD Insurance cover you are covered for Terminal Illness. If you are diagnosed with a terminal illness, you can receive your TPD Insurance entitlement and the balance of your Triple S account without having to terminate your employment.

If you do not have Death and TPD Insurance or your terminal illness commenced after you terminated your employment, you can claim the balance of your Triple S account on the grounds of terminal illness.

Eligibility criteria for claiming Terminal Illness

To receive a Terminal Illness benefit you must satisfy the Super SA Board that you have an illness or condition that is likely, in the opinion of two medical practitioners (one being a specialist in the relevant field), to result in your death within 24 months of the day on which the opinion is given.

If you receive a Terminal Illness benefit, you will not be entitled to any further Triple S insurance cover, including Death, TPD and Income Protection Insurance.

If you are approved a Terminal Illness benefit the account balance and any insurance benefit will be paid to you tax free.

Approved Terminal Illness benefits are payable if you are terminally ill, whether you have terminated employment or not.

Entitlements payable upon death

Triple S has no provision for you to nominate a preferred beneficiary in the event of your death.

You have the option to nominate a legal personal representative (estate) with Super SA. This means that, should you die, your death benefit, including any insurance entitlements, will be paid to your estate and distributed according to your Will. Your legal personal representative is the person appointed as the executor or administrator of your estate.

If you have not nominated a legal personal representative (estate) with Super SA, your death benefit, including any insurance, will be paid to your legal and/or putative spouse. If you don't have a spouse, your entitlement will be paid to your estate and distributed according to your Will.
