What is a legal personal representative?

Your legal personal representative is the person appointed as the executor or administrator of your Estate, following your death. A valid nomination of your legal personal representative (estate) means that your death benefit will be paid to your estate (rather than your spouse) and distributed in accordance with the terms of your Will. It is important to ensure your Will is up to date and reflects your wishes as to the payment of your super death benefit.

Your nomination will last three years from the date of signing. You can revoke this nomination at any time by completing a new Binding Death Benefit Nomination - Legal Personal Representative (Estate) form. Your completed form is not valid until it is received by Super SA with the required proof of identity documentation.
